Plans to honour Pals on television

Special events set to mark centenary of WWI battalion

TOWN'S BRAVE SONS: The Accrington Pals answered the call for volunteers but suffered heavy casualties at the Somme

AMBITIOUS plans to remember the Accrington Pals could include a TV drama, a commemorative beer and a Book of Honour.

Hyndburn Council has revealed a host of plans to mark the heroes' upcoming centenary, including planting displays of poppies across the borough.

Years of research into the Accrington Pals is to be created into a Book of Honour containing all the casualties suffered from July 1 to 5, 1916, compiled by historian Walter Holmes based on his research with the late Bill Turner.

The period of celebrations to remember the heroes' centenary has also been extended from two years to four, from 2014 to 2018.

A number of other ideas are being considered according to the group, such as a Channel 4 drama production about the families left in Accrington when the men went to war. It is set to cover the week following the battle.

The council is also hoping to build a memorial overlooking the town on the Coppice, paid for with lottery funding. Councillors are assessing designs for a 12-metre-high sculpture. The Accrington Pals Commemorative Group, founded by the council, is also exploring painting a Pals' commemorative date on the Coppice.

Council leader Miles Parkinson said: "There are some particularly poignant dates and we need to commemorate them in a way that will be remembered.

"We have set up this special group to make the arrangements and we are really grateful to the volunteers and interested parties helping us do this."

Other plans include events for those interested in genealogy, searching for relatives who had been in the battalion. A major Centenary Concert at Accrington Town Hall is also expected to take place.

Plans to create a Commemorative Beer has seen Hyndburn Council contact breweries to discuss the plans, with councillors visiting breweries this week.

The Book of Honour is to be a gift from historian Walter Holmes and Bill Turner's widow, Ruth, in memory of Bill, to be formally presented to French dignitaries in Serre.

Plain campaign for cigarette packets

Pub in the pink

CUSTOMERS raised £346 at a Breast Cancer Care fundraiser at The Swan, Darwen. The 'Pink Palace' evening will now take place annually.

Landlord Matt Worden said: "Thanks to everyone for their support and to those who gave us the name, Pink Palace. We really couldn't have done it all without you."

New garage request

THE owners of a house in Lower Darwen have applied to build a replacement garage in the garden behind their home.

Mr and Mrs Toplis have asked Blackburn with Darwen Council for permission to erect the building at 3 Countess Road.

Focus on sports

A FOCUS group is to review the success of this year's sports and leisure in a borough. The Leisure in Hyndburn Trust are hoping this summer's Hyndburn's Everyday Champions Project has raised the profile of sport clubs in the borough. The trust are now looking to carry out an audit to judge the impact of highlighting sport in Hyndburn

Plan for kitchen

THE owner of 3 Brooklands Terrace, Blackburn, Bilkish Bangi, has applied to extend the kitchen and bathroom.

Pupils ready to tackle 'foul play'

PUPILS at a Darwen school have called 'foul play' over people who let their dog use the pavement as a toilet.

Children from Darwen Vale High School have joined forces with Blackburn with Darwen Council and the police to tackle the issue of dog mess in public places.

The pupils, members of the Darwen police cadets, were leading a 'Foul Play' campaign that saw them design posters to encourage people to be responsible dog owners. They also questioned shoppers in Darwen Market to find out what people thought about the issue and how they it should be tackled.

The young people were joined by officers from the council, which has called for residents to help it crack down on the problem as part of its Your Call campaign. Officers were recruiting people to join the council's Dog Solutions workshops, which give people advice on how to be the front line in tackling dog mess. Council leader Coun Kate Hollern said: "This is a brilliant example of the Your Call campaign in action and I am delighted that these young people have decided to take a stand and say enough is enough. People are fed up with irresponsible dog owners failing to do their duty and clean up after their pets.

"It is not only disgusting but a health risk as well."

Darwen Vale deputy head- teacher Dave Hallam said: "It is good to see our pupils volunteering to raise public awareness on this issue through community projects."

OPINION SEEKERS: Darwen Vale police cadets are joined by PC Sam Kadir and the Shared Neighbourhood Team on their visit to Darwen Market

A festive special

A CHRISTMAS special Don Banks Afternoon Variety show at Darwen Library Theatre takes place today from 2pm.

Acts include singers James Loynes and Sarah Louise Briggs, The Ashleigh Singers and guitarist Kevin Cookson. The show is from 2-4.30pm and tickets cost £2.50.

Pepperpot show

DARWEN'S Pepperpot Hill Theatre Group has announced that its May production will be a brand new musical set in the First World War, written by group member John Jackson.

Auditions will be held at Darwen Catholic Club on Monday, December 10 at 7pm.

Badges are back

PEOPLE who requested special Darwen poppy badges after the initial batch sold out can now get them from a stall in the Market Annexe from 10am every day.

Organisers said they would be calling people who had contacted them.

History of Violet

THE next meeting of Darwen Local History Society is on Monday, December 10, from 7.30pm at Bridge Street Sports and Social Club. Denise North, will talk about 'Violet's Story, Part One'. All welcome.

Back in time for Christmas fair

SPRING Vale Methodist Church congregation stepped back in time at a Victorian Christmas fair on Saturday.

The event, held at the church on Watery Lane, Darwen, attracted more than 100 visitors and raised money for church funds.

Stalls included cakes, toys and second hand books, and the cafe served refreshments.

Minister Dave Keegan said: "Everyone had a great time. Church members really got into the spirit of the event by dressing up in Victorian clothing and it was well supported by the community."

Tributes to scholar

A LEADING professor from Blackburn is set to be awarded a posthumous doctorate in recognition of nearly 30 years contribution to one of the country's leading business schools.

Prof Bob Johnston, a father-of-three, lost a long battle with cancer, aged 59.

Fellow academics specialising in operations management, which he taught at Warwick Business School, have paid tribute to him.

The author of more than 30 books, the university is set to make him a Doctor of Science, at its winter degree congregation in January.

SCIENCE: Prof Bob Johnston

Prof Mark Taylor, Dean of Warwick Business School, said: "This award is given not only in recognition of his outstanding scholarship but also for his sustained contribution to the University of Warwick and our school for over 27 years.

"He was one of the leading authorities in service operations management.

"His passing is a great loss to the business school, to the university, and to the wider profession, but the legacy of his scholarly contributions lives on."

Prof Johnston leaves his wife Shirley, and three children, Chris, Kate and Sam.

Away from academia he loved hill-walking, sailing and hockey and was a school governor and church treasurer.

The former Accrington Grammar School pupil studied systems analysis at Aston University, gaining a first-class degree, before securing a post-graduate certificate at Lancaster.

He initially worked as a teacher at Settle High School before he took up a management post at a youth activities organisation.

He returned to the academic life in 1980 to lecture in operations management at the current Sheffield Hallam University.

Prof Johnston joined Warwick University in 1985 and became academic director for the business school and a deputy dean at Warwick.

Warning over icy towpaths

TOWPATH users in East Lancashire are being urged to take extra care in icy weather.

The Canal and River Trust charity warns that paths and lock-sides can become slippery, and snow conceals mooring rings and ropes which can be easy to trip over.

Safety adviser Steve Astles said: "Canals and rivers in Lancashire remain popular in winter when they provide a frosty escape for walkers, cyclists, anglers and joggers.

"However, it can be easy for people to become complacent and forget the potential dangers.

"Whilst frozen canals look beautiful, no-one should ever attempt to walk on or test the thickness of the ice.

"Families should make sure that young children are kept within sight and made aware of the importance of staying away from the edge.

"Dog walkers are advised to keep dogs on leads and never follow their animal on to the ice.

1,000s back plain packs

THOUSANDS of East Lancashire residents have called for changes to cigarette packaging.

More than 2,500 people have backed calls for a new law to make packets of all tobacco products plain, according to a survey by Cancer Research.

A similar law came into force in Australia on Saturday, and the British government is the first in Europe to commit to a public consultation.

In Australia, all tobacco must now be sold in olive green packs with new shock picture.

One mum from East Lancshire who supports the Plain Packs Protect campaign, said British brands should follow suit.

Emma Gardener said: "The less attractive they can make cigarette packets look to young people, so much the better. It looks like these packs are designed to suggest that it's OK to smoke aged 14."

Karen Thompson, joint director of public health for NHS East Lancashire, said that many people were shocked once they saw some of the packs currently on sale.

Smokers' lobby group Forest argues that plain packaging is an attempt to 'denormalise' a legal product and 'stigmatise' consumers.

BIG DIFFERENCE: Emma Gardener, son Alex and a 'plain packs' street team member with contrasting cigarette packs

'Allot' of prizes for Ian

AN ALLOTMENT holder from Hyndburn has bagged a range of gardening goods after taking part in a council consultation about the plots.

Ian McHugh won planters, grow bags, trowel, fork and seeds donated by The Garden Village of Clayton-le-Dale.

He said: "I've had the allotment for four years and really enjoy it. I grow all my own veg all year round and it's a great way to get fresh air and exercise."

Councillor Ciaran Wells said: "We'll use everything allotment holders have told us to form the council's strategy for providing and improving allotments in the future."

"Anyone with a council allotment can still find the questionnaire online on the councils website. Any ideas are welcome."

The council has vacant raised beds in Great Harwood, Oswaldtwistle, and Accrington.

Larger plots are also available at Meadoway, Queens Road West, and Woodnook Vale.

For information call Ian Marfleet at the council on 01254 356180.

Search for best woodland

EXPERTS are looking to find the top woodlands in Lancashire.

Nominations are now being taken for the Royal Forestry Society Excellence in Forestry Awards with cash prizes in five categories up for grabs.

Also being sought are the most inspirational projects involving nurseries, schools or other educational organisations which increase young people's understanding and appreciation of the environmental, social and economic potential of trees.

Woodland owners and managers, community groups, local authorities, housing developers, planners, farmers and schools are invited to take part.

Entries must be received by March 4, 2013. Further details and entry forms are available by visiting www.rfs.org.uk or by calling 01824 704230.

New era as youth zone set to open

AN EXTRA £530,000 is set to be spent on the creation of Hyndburn's first 'youth zone', it has been revealed.

State-of-the-art music and recording facilities and a coffee bar are envisaged for the New Era Centre in Paradise Street, Accrington, which will have its own dedicated entrance.

And alongside a 'cyber cafe' will be a full computer suite, a large meeting area is planned and a drama and dance space

At least 51 staff will be based at the youth zone – which will now be the main focus for teenagers in the borough with all the activities centred on the lower ground floor.

The property costs for the Hyndburn zone are £500,000, with an additional £30,000 for the IT provisions. But first a deal must be reached between the county council, the Big Lottery and Millennium Commission over the ownership of the building, an issue expected to be resolved in early 2013.

Work is also being put forward for Rossendale's youth zone, serving the Haslingden, Rawtenstall and Bacup areas, which is based at the Old Fire Station in Burnley Road, Rawtenstall.

HIGH-TECH: The New Era Centre

This would also benefit from top-of-the-range music recording facilities, coffee bar, drama studio and activity rooms.

Helen Denton, executive director for children and young people, said in a report: "The premises will also be made available for use by voluntary, community and faith sector groups and other partners that work with young people.

"It is envisaged that this will improve and extend services for young people in the district, widening further their access to positive activities."

Health staff are honoured

EAST Lancashire Hospitals NHS Trust has honoured 37 employees with 25 years' service.

Long service awards ceremonies were held at Burnley General Hospital and at Royal Blackburn Hospital.

Trust chief executive, Mark Brearley, said: "I am pleased that so many valued members continue to show such dedication and loyalty to the hospital and its patients."

Award winners included matrons, pharmacy staff, nurses, midwives, laboratory workers, healthcare assistants and office staff.

Movie classic

'Yankee Doodle Dandy', the 1942 classic movie about the life of George M Cohan, will be screened by the Darwen Library Theatre Film Society on Tuesday, December 11. The film, starring the legendary James Cagney, will be shown from 2pm at the Knott Street venue and entry costs £3.

The Little Harwood Police and Community Together meeting is at Little Harwood Community Centre, Whalley Old Road, today at 6pm.

Museum appeal

A FRESH appeal has been made for extra volunteers by Hyndburn Heritage and Community Group, which is one day hoping to open a borough museum. For more details, call Angela on 07931 484971 or Tracy on 07971 772168.

Memories wanted

A PROJECT has been launched by the county council's community heritage team on Lancashire's railways since 1945. Anyone with memories of Wakes Week outings or other train anecdotes can call 01772 534021.

Words of wisdom!

AN East Lancashire high school is leading the way in English by demonstrating its use in real life career roles.

A bomb expert, GP and football club press officer are speaking to pupils at the Bouncer Lane school about the importance of reading, writing and communication skills.

Witton Park High School's exciting week-long initiative is designed to raise students' aspirations and demonstrate the importance of literacy in everyday life.

Shanaz Hussain, head of English, said: "We want students to realise that with determination and self-belief anything is possible. This is the first initiative of its kind in Lancashire.

"It is extremely important that students understand how English and literacy are vital to their future success.

"I have had so much interest from parents, students and other schools about what we are doing here. In the future we intend to take this initiative even further."

The school has planned a week of exciting activities, guest speakers and trips to raise aspirations and secure further student success.

The event started yesterday with a lunchtime talk by PC Gareth Dixon, a dog handler with Lancashire Police, who was joined by an explosive's sniffer dog. PC Dixon talked about writing instructions, report writing and the importance of writing accurate descriptions.

He also provided students with information about the grades needed to access a career in the police force.

Students were also taken to Blackburn University to see the courses available to them and to speak to the admissions team about the qualifications they would need to study courses they were interested in.

Rhod's fired up to teach

Rhod Gilbert, 44, is one of the UK's most acclaimed comedians. He talks to Roger Crow about his new DVD, The Man With The Flaming Battenberg Tattoo, his new love of teaching, and the pros and cons of playing arenas

60 SECONDS WITH ... RHOD GILBERT

WHAT CAN FANS EXPECT FROM THE DVD? The usual ranting and raving about stuff that winds me up. There's stuff in the show that makes me laugh and more laidback stand-up as well.

ARE YOU MORE MELLOW THESE DAYS? Yes, that's what the show is about. It's me mellowing out a bit, and that is partly thanks to a course of anger management, partly thanks to this flaming Battenberg tattoo, and that's what the story is about.

ARENAS OR SMALLER GIGS - WHICH DO YOU PREFER? The only thing drawing me to arenas is the fact I could probably have finished this tour in two or three weeks – 10 or 15 nights away in a hotel doing an arena each time and I'd probably have made the same money and played to the same number of people. As it was, I decided to go to theatres; for the intimacy, for the experience, for me and the audience.

RHOD GILBERT'S WORK EXPERIENCE IS BACK ON BBC TWO. EPISODE ONE HAD A PROFOUND EFFECT ON YOU, DIDN'T IT? Yes, I fell in love with primary school teaching. I went to a school for three days, and I was torn away at the end. I didn't want to leave. In three days I was convinced this is the most important job on Earth. I think it's very stressful; people are tested and schools are put in league tables. I hate the way it's done. It seems to go out of its way to stifle any creativity. The essence of teaching, imparting information and inspiring kids and teaching them and helping them learn, is such a wonderful privilege and experience. I'd love to do that in some capacity. I'm fired up for doing that once everything calms down in my life.

Why not take a closer look at the BIBLE?

Whether or not you are familiar with the Bible, this home study course will provide you with plenty of information and will motivate you to begin reading it more effectively. This FREE course aims to equip you with the skills needed to understand the Bible and its message for you.

You will learn...

- About each book of the Bible
- How to allow the Bible to interpret itself
- About evidence proving that the Bible isn't a work of fiction
- Bible history and chronology
- About the Jews, and why they are so important
- Why God seems to allow so much suffering in the world
- Why it is important to read the Old Testament

This course is brought to you by your local Christadelphians - lay people who read and believe the Bible and whose faith rests solely on the Bible as the inspired Word of God. Our aim is to encourage you to discover what the Bible says for yourself.

after all, there's never been more reason to – consider the scientific, textual and prophecy developments of recent years!

ALSO free – send for a DVD and a monthly magazine

Please complete and post this coupon (no stamp needed) to FREEPOST, THE CHRISTADELPHIANS

Public & Legal Notices

BLACKBURN with DARWEN BOROUGH COUNCIL

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT PLEASE READ

Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council
Housing Act 2004

Designation for Selective Licensing in the Griffin Area

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th October 2012; Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council ('the Council') acting as local housing authority in exercise of its powers under Sections 80 - 82 of the Housing Act 2004 designated the Griffin Area (the 'area') of Blackburn for Selective Licensing. The designation will come into force on 18th January 2013 and remain in force for 5 years.

The designation does not require confirmation by the Secretary of State and falls within a general approval issued by the Secretary of State under section 82 of the Act, namely the Housing Act 2004: Licensing of Houses in Multiple Occupation and Selective Licensing of Other Residential Accommodation (England) General Approval 2010.

The Designated Area includes rented properties within the Mill Hill and Ewood wards and a map is provided with the designation. The designation may be inspected at the Council offices located at the Town Hall, King William Street, Blackburn, BB1 7DY during the hours of 09:00 – 16:30 Monday to Friday. Alternatively the designation can be viewed on the Councils website at www.blackburn.gov.uk/selective-licensing

From 18th January 2013, unless a notification in relation to a temporary exemption or an application for a licence is effective, any person, who, without reasonable excuse, has control of or manages a house in the Area which is required to be licensed but is not will be guilty of an offence and liable upon conviction to a fine not exceeding £20,000.

Additionally, application may be made for a rent repayment order requiring the repayment of rent or housing benefit and no Notice under section 21 of the Housing Act 1988 (recovery of possession on termination of a shorthold tenancy) may be given in relation to the whole of or part of the unlicensed house.

Landlords, persons managing houses or tenants requiring further information or advice regarding this designation, or wishing to apply for a licence should contact the Council's Housing Standards Team by telephone on 01254 585457, by email: neighbourhood.services@blackburn.gov.uk or in writing to Housing Standards, N Floor, Town Hall, Blackburn, BB1 7DY.

Note applications will be available from 1st November 2012.
